

Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited

Ticker: BHEL

|                     |                      |                 |
|---------------------|----------------------|-----------------|
| Revenue25,833.0 | Net Profit445.0  | EPS1.0      |
| ROE1.2%         | Debt / Equity0.4 | FCF-2,382.0 |

Financial Performance

Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited

Ticker: BHEL

Balance Sheet Composition

Cash Flow

Capital Allocation: Distress Signal

| PROS                                                                                                                                                                                              | CONS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Healthy dividend payout reflects shareholder-friendly capital allocation.</li><li>• Positive earnings per share indicate profitable operations.</li></ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Negative free cash flow raises concern about cash generation.</li><li>• Operating margin is relatively low.</li><li>• Return on equity below 10% suggests weak shareholder returns.</li><li>• Negative operating cash flow indicates weak cash generation.</li></ul> |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |